

Dataset Interview - FAQ:

- Will I have access to the internet?
 - You will have access to the internet, but AI tools will not be permitted during the interview (e.g. ChatGPT, Copilot etc)
- What are the available languages?
 - The languages available are:
 - Python (version 3.8.7)
 - Matlab, R (version 4.0.3)
- Would I be able to use other languages that are not already available?
 - Yes, you can install your own software packages, but it will be your responsibility to ensure that the software/packages work in this case. You will receive an instruction booklet on how to do so on the morning of your interview. Please alert your technical interviewer in case you encounter any issues.
- Which tools will be available?
 - Jupyter
 - Powerpoint
 - Excel
 - Standard data analysis libraries (numpy, pandas, scikit-learn)
- Is it possible to give an overview of the types of datasets I should expect (classification, regression, time series)?
 - We cannot provide you with specific details about the contents of the dataset.
 - However, you can expect it to be a generic dataset interview. Usually financial time series data, but that is not always the case. You do not need a strong prior domain knowledge to be able to process the data.
- Should I bring my own laptop or a calculator?
 - No, we will provide you with all the necessary equipment.
- Should I bring my ID?
 - Yes, bring a photo ID as some of our offices will require you to check in with security.
- Is there a dress code for the interview?
 - There is no specific dress code for the interview, but the office follows a business casual dress code.
- Should I arrive early?
 - Yes, please arrive no more than 10-15 minutes early to be able to enter the building and settle into your meeting room before starting the interview.

- Is there anything I can prepare in advance? Should I bring a printed CV?
 - No, there is nothing you need to prepare in advance, and you don't need to bring a printed CV to your interview.
- What will my interview schedule be like?
